ANCIENT HISTORY

OF THE

BOSTON MARINE SOCIETY.

THE following pages contain a copy of a printed paper attached to the original Petition of the members of the Fellowship Club to the Great and General Court of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, asking for an Act and a Charter of Incorporation by the name of Marine Society.

The paper was accidentally discovered in the State archives by Mr. Samuel B. Doggett, of Boston, who, thinking it would be of interest to the Society, very kindly made a transcript of the paper, which he sent to the Secretary.

This paper furnishes the Society with interesting information as to its founders which is not to be found in any of the books of records now extant.

Our first book of records is marked No. 1, and incidentally refers to another book marked No. 1 which must have been destroyed or lost. From a study of the paper and of the dates of admission to membership as found in the printed list of names contained in the Society's Manual, it will appear that the Fellowship Club was founded — or in the words of the paper — "Began at Boston in New England, June 1, 1742," and that Capt. Wm. Starkey's name did not head the list of the original members, but that John Snow — presumably a Captain — is entitled to that honor. It will appear also that the list of members as contained in the Manual was begun with the names only of the surviving members on the date of the Charter — "Feb. 2, 1754"

— and that the names of the 94 members deceased prior to that date were omitted. The numbers prefixed to the names, as also the dates subjoined, were supplied by the Secretary, and serve to show the relative rank of the members. Where two numbers occur together, the smaller one indicates the rank as found in the Society's Manual.

BOSTON, April 1, 1896.

A BRIEF HISTORY

OF THE

BOSTON MARINE SOCIETY:

ITS CHARACTER AND USEFULNESS.

From June 1, 1742, to April 1, 1896.

This Society is an institution of long standing (153 years, 10 months), and is, beyond doubt, deserving of all the respect, sympathy, and aid which it has ever received from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and from the generous citizens of the State who have so liberally contributed to its Relief Fund. It "Began at Boston in New England, June 1, 1742," under the name of "The Fellowship Club," and at the end of the first year appears to have numbered about seventy members, the first name on the list being JOHN SMITH. It was in the days of their prosperity that these men "associated themselves in the town of Boston" for the purposes named in the preamble to their first code of by-laws, to wit:

"Whereas the Intent and Design of this Club or Society and of the several members belonging to it, is to promote the Interest of each other in all Things in their Power, and to consult and resolve upon such matters and Things from Time to Time, as may be serviceable to the Society and to Encourage suitable Persons to become members thereof as well as relieve such members of this Society, who by Misfortune and Losses shall become proper objects according to the Ability of the Box."

"Seventhly, That such members as shall go a voyage to sea, and shall return successful, without being cast-away, taken by the enemy, or meeting with any other misfortune, shall pay Six Pence Sterling into the Box for the Use of the Society, for each and every Month that he shall have been absent. But in Case any Member of this Society shall happen to be taken by the Enemy, cast-away, or by any other Misfortune impoverished and reduced, then such Member or Members shall on their Arrival and Return, and application to the Society, be excused from paying the said Six Pence Sterling monthly for the Time he has been absent, and shall be relieved according to the Nature of his Misfortune and the Ability of the Box."

An association like this was then imperatively required. The risk of life and property on the ocean was greater then than now; vessels were small and rudely constructed; the science of navigation was comparatively but little known; insurance companies, as they now exist (those safeguards of private property), were not known in this country, and the loss of a vessel would often leave penniless both the mariner and merchant.

Indeed, an association of this description is a necessity at the present day. There is, perhaps, no class of men whose lives and fortunes are based on a more precarious foundation, than "they that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters." Cases every day occur, and will occur as long as the seas are navigated, where men of blameless lives, honest, intelligent, and energetic, who have for years commanded ships on the ocean, visited ports in every quarter of the globe, freely exposed their lives to danger, and contributed largely to the wealth of their employers and the good of the community, have, nevertheless, become the victims of misfortune, and been stripped in an hour by the perils of the sea of all their worldly possessions; or who, in the autumn of life, their occupation gone, and bowed down by infirmities or the weight of years, are dependent with their families on their friends for support, or on the stinted charities of a selfish world.

It was for this class of men, unfortunate but deserving, who have fought bravely the battle of life and been worsted in the conflict, that this association was instituted, and it has for over one hundred and fifty-three years relieved with a liberal hand, the unfortunate and aged among its members, and their widows and orphans.

A striking instance of the value of an association of this kind is furnished in the case of one of its founders, who, a few years after the "Fellowship Club" was organized, retired with his family and diminished means, to Newbury in this State, and in 1752, when the institution had been only ten years in existence, the members were called together by the information that one of their number, Captain Starkey, was in want of assistance!

Whereupon, it was —

"Voted, this 7th Jan. 1752, that Capt. Wm. Starkey be paid out of the Box Twenty-one Pounds Ten Shillings Old Tenor, being all the Cash at present in the Box and that he shall be reliev'd further According to the Ability of the Box, and that the present Clerk, G. Tidmarsh write him a Letter on y^e^ Same in Behalf of the Society."

The value of this institution now began to be appreciated. Its members and its funds increased. An act of incorporation was desirable, and the members sought to make it useful to commerce and the community at large, as will be seen by the following votes, copied from the original records, viz.:

"4th Sept. 1753. — Voted, that Captain Joshua Loring Wait on His Excellency Gov. Shirley, to congratulate Him on his Arrivall and know When the Society shall Wait on him to Inform him of our Society's Design to Wait on him to Favour our Desire of being incorporated, and Pray His Favour for the Same."

"Voted, this 4th Dec. 1753, that Jona. Clark, Jos. Prince, Fras. Wells, Esq., Joshua Loring, Isaac Freeman, Thos. Ayton, G. Tidmarsh, Wm. Coffin, Lewis Turner, Jona. Snelling, A. Craig, Joseph Dommett, Wait on the Gov. and Sign the Petition of this Society for being incorporated."

"Voted, also, that every member of this Society upon his arrival from Sea give in to this Society to be recorded, his observation on the Variations of the Needle, the Soundings, Courses, Distances, and all other things remarkable upon this Coast, and that it be inserted in the Petition of this Society to the General Assembly, and be read at every meeting of this Society."

Of course there could be no objection to the incorporation of this Society. The Governor gladly acceded to the prayer of the petitioners, and it was "INCORPORATED FEB. 2D, 1754, BY CHARTER, BY THE NAME OF THE MARINE SOCIETY, BY WILLIAM SHIRLEY, ESQ., GOVERNOR OF THE PROVINCE OF THE MASSACHUSETTS BAY, IN NEW ENGLAND."

The first Master of the Society, under the Charter, was JONATHAN CLARKE, elected for one year; JOSHUA LORING, Deputy Master; JONATHAN SNELLING, Treasurer, and GILES TIDMARSH, Clerk.

The following statement exhibits the increase of members for every ten years from the date of its existence. It will be perceived that, during some periods, there was an evident decline in the number of admissions. This can be accounted for by the War of the Revolution, the embargo, and the War of 1812.

Of the above number, there are now living 364 active marine members, and 90 honorary.

The amount of moneys expended in donations, from January, 1800, to April, 1896, is $360,514.06. One individual, the widow of a deceased member, received from February, 1843, to November, 1891, $5,471. The amount her husband had paid in was only $42.50. Another, an old ship-master, received from February, 1821, to March, 1841, the term of twenty years, at $120 per year, $2,400. He is now deceased, and his widow has since been the recipient of the bounty of the Society. He was a member twenty-seven years before he required aid.

This Society has always been respected by the community, and its opinions on subjects not only of local but of national importance, connected with navigation and commerce, have often been required by the government.

It has, also, always been lavish of its time and liberal in the expenditure of its money in its efforts at furthering the interests of the commerce of the port of Boston; as witness the following extracts from its records, which are only a few of scores — aye, hundreds — which might be adduced, if needed, to prove the truth of this assertion:

Oct. 13th, 1790.

Genl Lincoln.

Sir: — The Marine Society met last evening at which time I laid your letter before them, and agreeable to your request they took the business into immediate consideration, respecting the size of a vessell suitable to protect the Trade on this Coast & give it as their opinion the dimensions should be as follows: Forty eight feet Keel, Eighteen feet Beam & seven feet hold, makes about Sixty three Tons & be rigged a Schooner. The Marine Society will always be ready to aid & assist the Trade so as to promote the Gen. Good. In whose behalf I am Yr most hum. Servt, Mungo Mackay.

"Aug. 2, 1796. Voted, that the following Gentlemen be a Committee to confer with the Chamber of Commerce respecting the pilots and rate of pilotage of vessels into this port, and said Committee are hereby authorized to recommend and agree to any regulations respecting the same, which they may think fit and beneficial."

"Dec. 6, 1796. Gen. '(Benjamin)' Lincoln communicated to the Society the doings of Congress respecting a Light House to be erected on some part of Cape-Cod, that he was desired by the Secretary of State to furnish a plan and point out the spot where it would be best to place it and that he should feel himself better able to make up his reports by the advice and assistance of the Gentlemen of this Society, accordingly the business was considered & finally Voted as the Opinion of this Society that one light would be best and would answer every purpose provided it was so constructed as to be seen one Minute and hid from the sight the next minute and so on alternately, also that the Light should be Fifty feet from the ground."

"Genl Lincoln also mentioned the necessity of Buoys being placed in and about Boston Harbour and that some regular and better mode of pilotage should be adopted, that he had it much in his power to forward such desirable objects provided he was assisted by the Gentlm. of this Society in making such communications as would point out the manner of such reforms. Therefore it was voted, that Capts." . . . "Be a Committee to consider of the above matters and inform themselves of ye probable expense of Buoys, when it would be best to place them & what number would be necessary — in what form they should be made &c, and report as soon as possible."

At a special meeting of the Society, March 23, 1797. "The business of the meeting was opened by Capt. Thomas Dennie the Master, who informed the Gentln Present that the Meeting was called for the purpose of determining on proper persons for Pilots of Boston Harbour to be recommended by this Society to the Governor & Council according to the New Act which passed the last session of the Genl Court respecting pilots, whereupon an extract from the Act was read and the following votes passed." "the following persons are suitable for inward Pilots of Boston Harbour." . . . A committee was appointed "to attend Genl Lincoln and afford their advice and opinion in placing Buoys in the Harbour of Boston."

[The "New Act" spoken of above was the inauguration of the present pilot laws.]

July 4, 1797, a committee of five was appointed "to advise with Genl Lincoln as to the construction & make of the Bouys etc to be placed in and about our Harbour." At a special meeting Oct. 20, 1797, it was voted, "That a Committee of three be chosen to attend with Capt. J. F. Williams in taking the bearings & ditsances &c of Cape Cod Light agreeable to the request of Genl Lincoln per his letter 18th inst." Cruft, West, and Hills were made the committee, and it was voted, "That Capt. Williams should request Capt. Thos Barnard — a Branch pilot of Boston — to attend with the above Committee, and that he be compensated by the Society for his time and services."

Nov. 7, 1797, it was voted, "That a Committee of Five be chosen to correct for the Press & publish the report respecting the bearings distances &c. of Cape Cod Light." Jan. 2, 1798, it was "Voted That the compensation to Capt. Thos Barnard for his time and attendance with the Committee in taking the bearings & distances of Cape Cod Light be paid him, amounting to twenty dollars." It was further voted, "That the directions for sailing by Cape Cod Light House approved by the Society at their meeting 7th Nove last and which are as follows:"

[Here follow nearly three closely written pages of sailing directions for passing Cape Cod, and the safe navigation of Boston and Cape Cod bays.]

"Be printed at the Society Expense and a number be left at the Custom House to be delivered Gratis to every Master of Vessel whether of this Association or not — who may wish for one, and the Secrty is hereby authorized to pay the charges of the same."

It had for many years the whole management of the pilotage of Boston Harbor, and the duties were ably and satisfactorily performed. The Commissioners of Pilots are now nominated by the Trustees of the Society, though appointed by the Governor and Council. It exercises, and has long exercised, the power of appointing the Port Wardens, whose duties, being highly responsible, should be intrusted to men of intelligence and integrity, who have had large experience in ships and commerce. It never shrank from any duty which was required, and the patriotism of its members — ever proud of the national flag, which they have carried to the most remote parts of the globe — has always been unquestioned.

This Society, as will be seen by its By-Laws, is watchful over the interests of navigation, and keeps a vigilant eye on proceedings that may endanger the harbor of Boston, having a Standing Committee, of which the President of the Society is Chairman ex officio, elected annually for that particular object. It has always zealously, but not always successfully, opposed encroachments of every kind, which tend to diminish the scouring process through the channels, on which the preservation of the harbor depends. And if, in future years, the harbor should suffer in consequence of these manifold encroachments encouraged or unopposed by the City Government, and authorized by the State Legislature, our records will show that such injury will not be owing to any neglect of duty on the part of the Boston Marine Society.

As a social institution the Boston Marine Society has its advantages. Those enterprising men, who are the main-stay of commerce, by navigating our ships through distant seas, have here opportunities of knowing each other, comparing notes, discussing important questions, and gaining valuable information from our most active business men. The merchants of Boston, and other citizens who can appreciate the services of the class of men which form this association, have not only been liberal in donations and bequests, but many of them, having been elected honorary members, regularly attend the meetings, take a deep interest in its welfare, and aid its counsels by their wisdom and intelligence.

The names of men famed in the civil, military, and naval service of State and municipality; in the paths of science and art; and in the walks of trade, illuminate the pages of its roll of members.

To judge from the position the Boston Marine Society now holds in the community, and arguing for the future from the past, this Brotherhood of Shipmasters will continue to hold their stated meetings, benefit each other, distribute their charities with a liberal hand to those who need them, and render valuable services to our city, Commonwealth, and country for many years to come.

All donations shall be added to the permanent fund of the Society, unless otherwise directed by the donor.

ARTICLE XXIV.

ALTERATION OR AMENDMENT.

The foregoing By-Laws may be amended or repealed at an annual meeting whenever three-fourths of the members present shall so determine. But no such alteration shall be made unless the subject shall have been proposed at a previous meeting, and in the meantime referred to a committee, and the amendment specified in the notification of the meeting at which it is to be considered.
